Cottager petitions Stanhope Council

What goes up...

Council rapped over acid rain resolution

A resolution on acid rain passed recently by Haliburton County Council has drawn the ire of at least one resident of Stanhope Township. Alex Stevenson, who has expressed his feelings in a number of letters to the editor in this newspaper, made his comments May 7 at the regular meeting of Stanhope Township council.

Stevenson, who is also a member of that municipality's environment committee which is looking into the impact of acid rain, told the council that he disagreed strongly with the county resolution. The motion, which had been moved by Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, noted that the county was ready to begin liming the lakes of Haliburton, if that was what was needed to protect them from acid rain. The resolution said the county would look to the Ministry of the Environment for direction in this matter.

Stevenson, quoting from a report prepared by Tom Brydges of the Ministry of the Environment, told the meeting that liming is not the answer to the acidification of area lakes. He said adding lime to the lakes might assist with preserving the sports fishing in the area, but pointed out that the biological impact of adding the lime to the lakes has yet to be determined. He also noted that the heavy metal (mercury, lead, etc.) build-up believed to be associated with the acidic precipitation will not be "cured" by liming.

Stevenson said that according to Brydges it could be longer than 10 years before area lakes "die". He said the lakes in Haliburton come under acid stress in the spring but, "There is no need to rush ahead with a liming program, we are not on the brink." Stevenson suggested the council take a more patient attitude to the problem noting that studies of liming programs are currently being carried out in a number of countries and the findings could be very important for Haliburton.

Councillor Harry Davis, who also serves on the township's environment committee, supported Stevenson's stand. "I am very upset with County Council's resolution, particularly when they don't know what they are talking about." He said before township representatives vote on such resolutions at the county level they should check with their environment committee to discover the facts.

Reeve Jim Harrison, who voted in favour of the county resolution, responded by saying, "I'm not going to sit at County Council with my head in the sand while the future of this county is at stake." Commenting on Stevenson's remark that there may be more than 10 years before area lakes are seriously impaired, the Reeve stated it was council's obligation to move now to preserve the water resources. "It is time the Ministry of the Environment got moving on this," he commented.

Stevenson replied, "You don't open a window by throwing a brick through it."

Stevenson suggested that the council should be pressuring the provincial and federal government for controls on the pollution at the source. He said an international agreement was needed between Canada and the United States.

Harrison said that one of the intentions of the motion was to have the MOE realize that the citizens of Haliburton County were concerned and want the provincial government to bring pressure to bear on the United States government and Inco, one of the main Canadian contributors to the acid rain phenomenon.

Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer added to these comments. "The County Council wanted the provincial

A Maple Lake cottager, Hubert Moss, has received the assurances of Stanhope Township council that his application for the closing of the 66 foot marine allowance in front of his summer home will be the first to be considered when a policy for the closing and sale of the allowance is finally established by the county. The assurance was given at the May 7 meeting of the council.

Moss has been involved in a lengthy legal dispute with his neighbour over the status of the 66 foot shore allowance in front of his cottage. A recent decision by Judge Woods of the County Court in Victoria, ruled that the shore allowance was public property and that Moss's neighbours, Leon Dragon and Olgierd Cichowski, co-owners of the cottage, could continue to drive over it to reach their cottage. The matter had been

David Moss predicted there would be problems with dirt and mini bikes in the township as these vehicles will start driving on the 66 foot shore allowance, often part of a cottager's front lawn or beach area, and the cottager will be powerless to stop it. He said there could also be problems with campers and canoe trippers taking advantage of the implications of the judge's rulings and setting up their tents anywhere on the shores of area lakes.

The Moss family claims that their neighbours could build an adequate access route to the rear of the cottages which would not cost more than $800 to construct.

"The main purpose of the by-law," according to a letter read by David Moss, "would be to stop continued misuse of the road allowance in general and to provide a measure of before the court since 1974.

Moss appeared before the township council to request that the 66 foot road allowance around Maple Lake be closed to vehicular traffic and that his application for the purchase of the land be considered by the council. David Moss, son of the owner, said that the use of the road allowance by vehicles has made the front lawn of his cottage an unsafe place to sit in the summer. "According to the judge's ruling, if I sit on the marine allowance to watch my children swim or enjoy the lake, I am in contempt of court. I might as well leave the boards on the windows and not bother opening the cottage this year."

protection for abutting landowners until the process of closure and deeding can be completed." Moss stressed that the family was not looking for a deed to the 66 foot allowance at the moment but simply a by-law to control the use of that area.

"Judge Woods said the shore allowance is an open road," Moss told the councillors, "and yet this council has informed me that formally the allowance has never been opened. We are caught in the middle. Surely the council can now say this is not a road and never was."

Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison told Moss that

Junior grade students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School were included in the program during the open house Wednesday evening. The youngsters went through a series of manoeuvres with a parachute, ending one portion of their performance by ducking under the canopy as it gently floated back to the floor.

HHSS defends track title

For the eighth year in a row athletes from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School have captured the Kawartha West championship in track and field. The win came Thursday in Lindsay when the local students faced competitors from the two Lindsay high schools and Fenelon Falls Secondary School.

HHSS emerged from the competition with 935 points, far above their nearest rival, I.E. Weldon, with 606 points. In third place was Fenelon Falls with 573 points, while Lindsay High School was last with 533.

Six of the Haliburton participants set Kawartha West records. Helen Hellquist ran the 1500 metres in 5:40.1 to set a senior girls record. Carol Lee threw the discus 28.24 metres for another senior girls record while Eileen Henderson ran the 400 metre hurdles in open girls competition in 1 minute 23.8 seconds.

Records were also broken by Tony Scheffee in the junior boys 400 metre hurdles. He completed the run in 1:07. Mike Hatkoski set a record in the junior boys pole vault with a jump of 3.10 metres while Butch Manary set a record in the junior boys discus with a distance of 38.16 metres.

Marla MacNaull and Helen Hellquist captured four firsts in the meet while Mike Hatkoski had three firsts.

The successful athletes now advance to the Kawartha championship which is being held today (May 14) at Trent University. The following students from Haliburton Highlands High School qualified for that meet in the events listed after their names:

council was concerned about the problems posed by the ruling and situation. However he insisted that until a county-wide policy is established for the closing of shore allowances, the township council would not act. "When the 66 foot allowances are closed and sold to the abutting landowners it will be done according to a county-wide policy, not just one in use here," Harrison stated.

Township solicitor Jim Cruikshank agreed with this policy. He said there were many problems involved with each closing request and that many of these can be eliminated with a carefully prepared policy. He said he was advising the township not to act on the request until the county has that policy in place.

R.J. Victor, a solicitor for the owners of the other cottage, Dragon 'and Cichowski, was also on hand for the meeting Wednesday. He commented that the statement of David Moss that he would be unable to enjoy his cottage this summer was "a fallacy". He said the same situation will prevail this summer as has since 1974, except that the situation had become recognized by the courts. Victor said the judge's ruling did not mean the allowance was open to the general public but merely that his clients could not be denied access to their cottage over it.

The lawyer admitted that the issue had become an emotional one and suggested that his clients might have been the ones to leave their cottage boarded up for the summer because of the obstructions thrown in their path by the Moss family. Victor told the council it should examine first hand the proposed route to the rear of his clients' property. He said that one would have to be a "mountain goat" to use that entrance. The lawyer also said he doubted a road could be constructed to the cottage from the rear for $800. "I wouldn't travel over the road he commented."

This drew a heated reaction from several members of council who maintained the road could be constructed easily at the rear. The lawyer said the road would alter the topography and character of the lot in question.

Before the parties to the dispute left the meeting, the Moss family was assured that their application for the purchase of the 66 foot road allowance would be the first one the township would consider. However, it was also pointed out that no transactions will be permitted until a county-wide policy has been established for the closing and transfer of shore allowances.

Parachute school approved

The Toronto Parachute School has been given formal approval to operate at the Stanhope airport by the township council. The approval came at the May 7 meeting of the council.

According to a spokesman for the parachute club, Lloyd Kallio, the club will operate seven days a week during the four month summer season. Kallio indicated that the club hopes to attract interest from the many people who have cottages in the area or who are on vacation here.

Several councillors expressed concern about the early morning operation of the club, saying that the take-offs and landings of the aircraft may disturb area residents in the early morning hours, particularly on Sunday. The spokesman told the meeting that the club would not begin operation until 9 a.m. and that flights in and out of the airport would come at a 20 minute interval.

The agreement between the township and the club stated that the parachute club members would have access to the airport lounge facilities for training purposes. The ten year agreement calls for an annual payment of $2.

Rabid animals are a hazard this spring.

Rabies, which is spread by infected animals, is a serious problem in Ontario.

This spring it is of special concern in built up areas where wild animals...

particularly skunks...are infecting pets and children who come in contact with them.

Children should be warned to avoid wild animals, especially if they appear sick or friendly because these usually are signs that they are rabid.

Pets should be regularly vaccinated and kept indoors at night. You can also help to control rabies by reporting any pets or wild animals which seem to be acting strangely to your local police, humane society or health unit.

Do not touch dead animals and contact your doctor or health unit immediately if your child or pet comes in contact with wild animals. Do not handle your pet with bare hands immediately after it has fought with a rabid animal. Seek advice from a veterinarian.

If you would like to know more about rabies write for a free copy of our pamphlet. ANIMALS, RABIES AND YOU from the Ontario Health Resource Centre, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

Policy should be a priority

Township councils in the county can expect a deluge of requests and enquiries from area cottagers this summer with regard to the purchase of the 66 foot shore allowance, which encircles many of the lakes in the county. That prediction is being verified daily in most municipal offices as the day's mail brings more letters from owners of lakefront property. There is little doubt that once the summer season arrives many others will take the opportunity to bring their requests to the offices personally.

At the moment, the township councils have placed an embargo on the sale of the shore allowance pending the creation of a policy to cover such sales throughout the county. The responsibility for drafting the policy rests with the members of the county council.

We agree that a single policy is needed for the county. Since the county council must approve each application after it has been accepted by the municipal councils, the single policy will help to speed the process. It will also eliminate any contention that lakefront property owners in one township are receiving a rougher, or easier, treatment from their municipality. A single policy will also help to reduce the confusion on all sides as to what is required before a shore allowance can be closed and sold.

However, we also believe that the members of the county council should waste no time in drafting the policy for Haliburton. A number of events, including a recent court decision affecting a cottager in Stanhope Township and the formulation of a new policy by the Ministry of Natural Resources with regard to the sale of shore allowance property in unorganized areas, has heightened the interest and concern of cottagers in all parts of the province. It is certain that many of these people will be anxious to know what criteria the county will enforce in the sale of this land.

The county council must make this a priority item. If necessary special meetings should be called to thrash out the disagreements and problems as quickly as possible. The councillors should make a commitment to themselves and the lakefront property owners in the county that a policy will be struck before the summer has past.

Stanhope Township solicitor Jim Cruikshank told that council last week that the procedure for closing and selling the shore allowance can take up to two years. With such a lengthy process ahead of them, there is little doubt the people concerned are eager to get started.

Lakefront property owners in this county deserve to know where they stand with regard to the shore allowance. County Council should have a policy ready before Labour Day so the process of an orderly transfer can begin.

As the Quebec referendum campaign moves closer to its conclusion the main focus of attack by both sides seems to be the Canadian Constitution.

If we accept only a fraction of the rhetoric that has been thrown around by Ryan and Levesque, we are left with the impression that there is nothing right about our Constitution, nothing worth trying to save.

Right now, before the vote takes place on May 20, it is time for all of us to peer through the smoke screens that have been thrown up by both sides in the campaign and recognize the real truth of our situation.

In the first place, there is little to choose from between Claude Ryan's "No" program and Rene Levesque's "Yes" option.

Levesque proposes what he calls "Sovereignty Association", although he has difficulty explaining exactly what he means, even to himself. All we really know about sovereignty association is that it rejects both the Canadian Confederation and the Canadian Constitution.

Claude Ryan talks about a "renewed federalism" with a new Constitution. It's not much of a choice. As far as English Canada is concerned, we are not even in the race. It is like being given a choice of which leg you would rather have them cut off - the right or the left.

Levesque began his campaign with charges of "slow genocide of the French people in Canada by the English majority", and "colonialist spoliation of Quebec."

That, of course, is utter nonsense. Canada's Constitutional Monarchy is one of the most de-centralized systems of government in the world. The degree of autonomy enjoyed by our provincial governments is unique. Quebec, for instance, is master in its own house in such areas as education, administration of justice in its own province, exploitation of its resources, and the right to borrow money whenever and wherever it chooses. It has its own police force, and exercises considerable latitude in foreign affairs.

Quebec has been allowed to legislate in the area of language use in its province, in contravention of the British North America Act. Quebec gets the lion's share of all federal monies spent on social security and equalization payments. These facts were contained in a speech given last Wednesday in France by Gerald Pelletier, Canadian Ambassador to France.

It should be remembered that, while both Levesque and Ryan want a new Constitution, the provinces and the federal government haven't even been able to agree on an amending formula for our present Constitution. For us to consider scrapping the BNA Act to satisfy Quebec, whether by Levesque's or Ryan's initiative, is unthinkable.

The United States amended its Constitution only twice as a direct result of its bloody four-year Civil War (the 13th and 14th Amendments). The 13th was adopted two years after the War, when tempers had cooled somewhat, and the 14th was ratified four years after the War had ended. The American Constitution has a built-in amending formula.

Canada has the third oldest Constitution in the Western Hemisphere that is still intact. It is not a perfect Constitution, but it is not all that bad either. If it is amended, it should be done according to an amending formula, and in a calm and deliberate manner, not in the emotion-charged atmosphere that exists in Canada today.

Both Levesque and Ryan want special rights for Quebec, and the French language, enshrined in a new Canadian Constitution. If we allow them that, then all other provinces will have the same right to demand special status. This would result in a hodge-podge Constitution, guaranteeing Balkanization of Canada, and an end to the Canadian Confederation.

I am a staunch Constitutional Monarchist, and I want to hear more voices raised in defence of our Constitution and our Monarch. Within the framework of this system we can continue to be a great nation. Without it we are nothing, and that, I believe, is the real choice facing us.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

Letters

Editor:

Several letters appearing in your paper recently on the subject of acid rain and in particular on the process known as "liming" (ie-the use of finely ground limestone) requires some clarification.

Mr. Stevenson and others are quite correct in stating that liming is an intermediate measure in the overall solution to acid rain and indeed it is also true that the number of lakes in the Haliburton area at serious risk are not too numerous. But having said this I must note that their other conclusions are not scientifically justified.

Firstly; The Swedish scientific community has not ceased the liming program. On the contrary it is to be greatly expanded. The program has not been motivated by purely political reasons but is scientifically and pragmatically based. I suggest that the excellent and definitive condensation of all the Swedish work, authored by Berghoff be studied by those concerned with this problem particularly as it concerns "liming". Nor has the writer ever seen a scientifically valid report that indicated any negative results from the liming process.

Secondly; as noted by Berghoff, permitting a lake to "die" causes an ecological snowball effect. All flora and fauna depending on the lake system appear to be adversely affected. Man is finally also adversely affected. The Swedish scientists conclude that allowing a lake to die is just not ecologically acceptable. Some studies, for example, purport to show that resultant high levels of aluminum salts in dead lakes results in a failure of egg hatchings of water-fowl using the lake.

Finally; The Ministry of Environment through its project leader, Dr. T. Brydges, is very anxious to have all interested groups involve themselves in this problem. The MOE wants to hear their views on the problem and indeed their support both moral and physical will be of great importance in the future.

Recently, the Haliburton County Council went on record in support of a liming program. I am sure that they intend to mesh their program with that of the MOE since that is the only path that can lead to any satisfactory conclusion. The complex scientific studies that are necessary both before and after the actual physical liming of a lake can be undertaken and the very expensive nature of these projects militate against any unilateral action. On the other hand, the MOE will welcome the expertise of the County Council, particularly where it relates to the physical problem of spreading the limestone, with open arms. These two bodies working in concert can only lead to a better overall effort.

The MOE has offered to make our group privy to all the technical details of their program and to keep us informed of daily progress. We, on our part, will attempt to meet with all interested groups and pass this information on while maintaining an unprejudiced position. If we feel that the MOE program is inadequate we will not hesitate to say so and we will also carry your criticisms directly to the attention of Dr. Brydges.

In the meantime for those interested in the scientific and technical basis for the liming program, we will endeavour to supply copies of all pertinent technical literature extant and in particular, copies of the Swedish program as noted by Berghoff.

H. Michael Collins, Gooderham.

The sweet smell of spring

The warm moist air is laced with the sweet smell of flowers. It is a smell of things growing and new life beginning.

The location is the two spots in the county where plants of all varieties get an early start on the season, the greenhouses at Kraemers on the South Lake Road and at Campbell's Garden Centre in town.

The two operations are bustling with activity this time of the year as the staff prepare for the transplanting period which is usually the two or three weeks following May 24.

This is the third year for the Kraemer Greenhouses and is the busiest season yet. Peter Kraemer, who operates the outlet with his wife Ursula, notes that almost all the plants they have under the plastic arch are flowers. "We do grow some vegetable plants such as tomatoes, cabbages and cucumbers, but have found over the years that it is difficult to satisfy the tastes of the customers. Our operation is almost strictly flowers," Peter comments.

This year Peter is preparing the hanging baskets for the Minden Horticultural Society. "We'll be using red geraniums as the central flower in each basket," he notes. Peter points out that creating an arrangement for the baskets is difficult because the plants are exposed to the elements during most of the day. "The plants have to be attractive but hardy," he points out.

The Kraemers moved to the area five years ago and decided to give the greenhouse business a try. Peter had been a teacher in agricultural science in Stratford but had no formal training in greenhouse growing.

During the first two years they tried to produce fresh vegetables in their greenhouse, but found the return to be very low. Now they concentrate on starter plants, mostly flowers.

One of the biggest greenhouse expenses is fuel to keep the enclosure warm during the winter months. The Kraemers start working in their greenhouse in mid December. Peter has constructed a large wood burning heater in the centre of his greenhouse to help ease the cost of operation of the propane heaters which serve as back-ups. The wood heater can consume up to one-third of a full cord of wood on a chill winter day and when the temperatures dip very low, both the wood fire and propane heaters are needed to protect the plants from freezing.

The Kraemers have over 40 different species of flowers growing in their premises. They have estimated that if the plants were to be planted in a single-row flower bed, each plant eight inches apart, the bed would stretch for close to 23 miles.

Garden centre
Pat Campbell's greenhouses are located behind her flower and gift store on South Water Street.
She says she has noticed an increased demand for vegetable plants over the past few years and has attempted to meet that need. She notes that it is sometimes hard to guess what the customers will want when planting time arrives. "We get some feedback from our customers each year, and that helps in deciding what to plant," she comments.

She and her staff usually start things growing in the large greenhouse in early March. A smaller greenhouse, requiring less fuel to heat, is used for earlier starters.

Pat has been in the greenhouse business for the past 15 years and retails all her own starter plants. Customers include local residents and many cottagers who have vegetable gardens or flower decorations at their summer homes. Pat notes that the hanging baskets of flowers are a popular item with many customers returning each year with the empty baskets to be filled.

Pat relies on oil heat to keep her greenhouses warm and the constantly increasing price of fuel has become a serious concern. The plastic covered greenhouses could be easier to heat if another layer of plastic was added, however, as Pat notes, "What you gain in insulation value, you lose on the amount of light reaching the plants."

When asked for tips for people interested in starting their own plants from seed Pat suggests that many people tend to begin too early. "The seeds should be started about six weeks prior to when they will be transplanted," she comments. "If they are started too early they will become too long and 'leggy' and when planted out of doors will be knocked down by the wind." She notes that it is better to place a young, vigorously growing plant out in the garden than one that is older and perhaps too spindly to withstand the rigors of being

Peter Kraemer waters the plants in his greenhouse on South Lake Road. The majority of the starting plants he cultivates are flowers. This year he is preparing the hanging baskets for the Minden and District Horticultural Society.

Pat Campbell transplants young shoots in the greenhouse behind her shop. She has found an increasing demand for vegetable plants over the past few years.

outside. "There is less setback if you transplant younger plants," she notes.

Pat also suggests that when transplanting tomatoes into the garden that they be planted deep enough to help support the stem. "The tomato plants can develop roots from the stem if it is underground, so this is one way to overcome 'legginess' in tomato plants."

At both the Kraemer and

Campbell greenhouses they are preparing for the rush which will start in a few weeks and build until the first weeks of June when most of the plants should be in the ground.

Pair charged

Two 16 year old youths have been charged with break, enter and theft following an incident in the Oxtongue Lake area in northern Haliburton County.

Police were called to the cottage of Ian Matthews of Toronto May 7 after it was discovered the building had been entered. Some $20 worth of liquor had been removed from the premises.

Constable Bob Wood followed a motorcycle track which led from the area and apprehended two individuals. Charged with the break-in are Larry Bruce Bishop of Richmond Hill and Mervin David Cameron of Shelburne. Both are 16 years of age.

There was $20 damage to the cottage door caused by the break-in.

Police report that the motorcycle found with the youths had been reported stolen in the Shelburne area. Further investigation is also underway to determine if the two are connected with a number of similar break-ins in the area.

The pair were being held in Lindsay jail with a bail hearing scheduled for Tuesday in that community.

'Shop around' says board president

The Haliburton and District Real Estate Board is entering its third year in existence and according to the president of the organization it has 100% participation from real estate firms in the county.

Bill Roodenburg, who operates his real estate company from an office on Highway 35 south of Minden, notes that the association represents 14 companies and 80 agents within the county.

The Haliburton realtors were formerly associated with the Lindsay board, but three years ago they formed their own group and it has proven to be a positive step.

"We provide educational services for our members," Bill notes, "organizing seminars, classes and inviting speakers into the area to keep the agents abreast of changing regulations in the real estate field." In addition the board is the co-ordinating force behind the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) in the county.

The local association also provides a degree of self-policing in the real estate industry. Since all companies are members, they are aware if the practices of one firm in the county may be giving the real estate business a 'bad name'. Pressure from within the organization can often be very effective in correcting such situations.

The president of the local board suggests that prospective home or cottage buyers in the county to shop around. He notes that in some cases real estate companies or agents from outside the area are attempting to sell property at exceptionally high prices. In some cases the land in question is not suitable for the use the new owner wishes to make of it and in other instances the price is out of line with comparable properties in the county.

As with any business transaction, it is wise to know who you are dealing with and to spend some time comparing prices. Roodenburg advises prospective buyers to be particularly careful in cases where the seller is offering the property with a very low down payment.

Bill Roodenburg is the current president of the Haliburton and District Real Estate Board. He notes that market trends indicate little change in buying and selling of real estate in the county during the past year. However, he indicated that the impact of higher interest rates may be felt this summer.

Interest rates

The recent surge in interest rates has not seriously hurt the local real estate market, but the full impact of the high cost of mortgages will probably be felt later this summer.

According to Roodenburg, since a large number of listings carried by local agents are for cottages, the traditional selling period is just beginning. He notes that mortgage interest rates hit a peak during the winter months and have started to come down.

He also pointed out that many agents are encouraging sellers to take back the mortgage on the property. "In some cases that is the only way the property will be sold since few people are willing to carry 18 and 20 percent mortgages," Bill commented.

Bill notes that there is a surplus of homes on the market at the moment but that the movement of cottages and vacation properties has been much the same as previous years.

"Land is still the best investment a person can make," Bill commented. "It generally appreciates in value, gives you a place to live and call home and is an excellent investment."

The 66' marine allowance scramble

At the May 7 meeting of Stanhope Township Council the question of the closing up and sale of the 66 foot shore allowance which encircles many lakes in the county was discussed. The matter had been brought to the council's attention because of a legal dispute between two cottagers on Maple Lake. While much of the discussion centered on that dispute, the lawyer for the municipality, Jim Cruikshank of Gravenhurst had an opportunity to explain the procedures that cottagers must go through to acquire the right to the shore allowance.

Cruikshank advised the township council not to process any applications for closing until a county-wide policy had been established on the question. He said that many problems related to the closings could be eliminated in advance if that policy was in place and all townships followed the same procedure.

The lawyer, who said he had been involved in the procedures in the Muskoka area, provided the following outline of what's in store for the cottager who wishes to acquire title to the shore allowance in front of his cottage.

(NOTE: The following is just a general outline. Specific cases could be different and cottage owners should consider contacting a lawyer for advice.)

Cruikshank told the meeting the procedures for closing and sale of the marine allowance. (The terms 'marine allowance' and 'road allowance' are often used interchangeably when discussing this topic. Marine allowance refers to the 66 foot wide strip that has been set aside around the shores of many lakes as public land. In some cases the use of the land may have been intended to be for a road, in which case it is both a marine and road allowance) has been established by the Ontario Municipal Act and has not been something new. He pointed out that concern over the marine allowance has increased lately because of the decision of Judge Wood in Victoria County with regard to the status of the allowance in front of a cottage on Maple Lake in Stanhope Township, and the announcement by the Minister of Natural Resources that his ministry would no longer object to the closing of shore allowances in unorganized townships, where the land is not needed for public use.

The lawyer emphasized however that the MNR policy change refers to unorganized townships where that ministry acts as the local municipal government. In Haliburton County initial control over the status and sale of shore allowances rests with the townships.

He pointed out that there are a number of prerequisites that will probably be needed before any application to purchase a shore allowance is considered. Among them is the agreement of adjacent landowners.

He noted there could be problems in determining the property line over the 66 foot allowance, particularly in cases where the existing property lines approach the edge of the allowance at an angle. The abutting owners will have to determine between themselves the path the line should follow.

This agreement will have to be formalized in a survey showing the property lines. The survey will also be needed to establish the existence of the shore allowance. In some instances the allowance is completely underwater because of higher water levels or erosion of the shoreline. In other cases, the allowance may be wider than the 66 feet.

Presuming that the abutting landowners agree to the closure, the township council must then be approached requesting that a by-law be passed to close the public land and sell it to the landowners in question. Once the by-law is passed, notification of its intention must be advertised in a local newspaper for a four week period and notices must be posted in the general area of the closing. These notices give those who might object, an opportunity to do so.

If the township receives what it considers to be valid objections to the by-law an Ontario Municipal Board hearing must be convened to decide which party is right.

Presuming the OMB rules in favour of the closure, the by-law must be approved by the County Council and again objectors can present their case in opposition to the by-law.

If the by-law is approved by the County Council it then is sent on to the federal Department of Public Works and the Ontario Ministry of Housing. The federal department will determine whether they have any interest in the property, for example in the construction of a public dock. If they do not, no objection is registered.

The Ministry of Housing likewise studies the request to determine if it meets the standards set down by provincial law. Other ministries and agencies within the provincial government also have an opportunity to comment and object to the action.

If, at this point there are no objections, the Minister of Housing will endorse the by-law and it will come into force with the land being transferred from the Crown to the individual.

Along the way there will be expenses for a survey, administration fees to the municipality, advertising and posting charges, lawyers fee, charges incidental to OMB hearings and other documentation plus the actual cost of the land. While most individuals have assumed that municipalities will charge a fixed cost for each transaction, representing the administration fees, there is apparently nothing from stopping the townships from assessing a charge for handling the transaction and when it is complete, a separate "sale price" for the land in question.

Cruikshank suggested Wednesday that rather than individuals attempting to close and purchase a shore allowance, groups of landowners approach the township council with their request.

He suggested that lakefront landowners between two concessions, for example, if all were in agreement, could save a great deal of money in legal fees, survey costs and other expenses by making the closure and purchase as a group. He also noted that the councils are more likely to deal more favourably with a group representing a specific unit, rather than an individual.

The lawyer estimated the procedure could take up to two years or longer to be completed.

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

One fact to emerge from the May meeting of Stanhope Township Council was that council is determined to press ahead with the need for establishing a policy which will meet the needs of those property owners who wish to obtain closing up of shore line rights or way, or ownership of same.

Council had the township solicitor present to explain the problems, as well as the avenues open to bring about the results desired by the lakeshore residents. It is clear that no step will be taken until such time as it is possible to give people a legal and unchallengeable deed of ownership to the allowances transferred.

This will come about when the Provincial government comes up with a policy, after which the County Council will be able to adopt a procedure which would apply to all the municipalities in the County. All of this is some distance down the road and no overnight solution is going to be available.

It also seems to be certain that Stanhope will see a school of parachuting established at the airport and probably in operation early in June. Mr. Lloyd Kallio stated that it was anticipated that there would be a good response to the school's activities and that students from other areas would be coming to Stanhope for experience in this area.

In addition to the parachuting activities there may also be sky diving exhibitions to be seen, as this activity is also a part of the instruction program for those wishing to pursue it.

Lloyd, who is the chief instructor and a master parachutist, has made so many jumps that he is now nearing the 2,000 mark. People in this area should find it an enjoyable way to put in time on a good weather day, being spectators as the parachutists make their descent, and perhaps the thrill of seeing sky divers practice their manoeuvres high up, and gradually descending before opening their chutes.

Stanhope Volunteer Firemen will be holding a dance at the Firefighters Community hall on May 17th, and plans are being made for a fine evening, including a live orchestra. The affair deserves the support of the citizens since the volunteers hope to re-establish the associations funds.

Mom, we love you

Minden and area moms were honoured Sunday as family members pitched in to help mark the special day of the year.

Three mothers in particular received extra special treats as a result of the efforts of their children. The youngsters had submitted entries in The Times Mother's Day contest, describing in 25 words or less why their mother was the greatest.

It was obvious from the entries received that mothers hold a special place in the hearts of their families. Included in the many entries received were tributes to her culinary abilities, her role as a comforter and even praise for her efforts as a disciplinarian.

The judges had a difficult time picking our three winners. Certainly the sincerity of all the entries received were unquestioned. However, since we had only three prizes, the choice had to be made. The three winners, with their mothers, are featured on this page.

The entries of others participating in the contest are reprinted below:

Teddy (11) and Darell (8) Francis: My mom is the best woman in the world for working on the farm and helping us with our school work. We love you mom very much.

Wanda-Lee McNeil (19): She is the greatest because she loves us, she has a good way of talking to us about our problems and understands how we feel.

Debbie Stribling (13): Because when she goes away she thinks of our family. She cleans the house through when she's home and because she is the best mother.

Darrell (9 1/2) and Darcy (5 1/2) Walker: She is the best because she cares what we do and she loves us, cares for us. We love her and we care for her.

Jason Keeler (9): My mother is the greatest because she brought me up and gave presents. On special days she taught me things. She is nice to me.

Laura Pillsworth (9): My Mom is kind, nice, fun and loves me and takes care of me. She helps me too.

Scott Nesbitt (10): When I was little I would get hurt and she would pick me up and fix me up. Mom, I love you.

Kelli Dollo (9): She is nice and helps me do things and because I love her and she loves me.

Ian Hicks (11): My Mom is the greatest because she is thoughtful and consitrite.

Stephanie O'Brien (11): My Mom is the greatest because she cares for me and loves me. She is very understanding too!!

Tammy Walker (10): She cooks nice meals and bakes cookies, pies, cakes and bread. She washes and irons my clothes. She thinks about us all the time. She is pretty.

Darren Byers (8): She is a good cook and she takes me places. She loves me when I am bad.

Dana Colliver (15): My Mom is the greatest because she's always there when I need her.

Angelo Miscio (9): My Mom's the greatest because she works to make a good happy home and we also love her very much.

Tony McCloskey (10): My Mom is the greatest because she punishes me when I need it and she always cares when I'm sad. I love her.

Ken Beers (8): My Mom is the greatest because she makes my bed, she get me up out of bed, makes my breakfast. My Mom is the greatest.

Dave Stribling (15): Because she cleans the house and makes my bed daily. My mom also cooks very good meals for us.

Richard Beers (11): I think she's the greatest because she's kind, loveable and understanding. She's very nice and I couldn't live without her. I love her.

Aaron Davis (9): My Mom is the greatest because she loves us and we love her. She feeds us by making supper. So we love her very much.

Danny Noddle (10): I think my mother is the greatest because when I do something bad she lets me away with it. My mom is the greatest mom.

Cameron Berry, right, is seen here with his sisters Tanya and Jessica and his mother Bon, who he nominated as the greatest mom. His efforts were rewarded with a floral arrangement for his mother from Campbell Garden Centre. Cameron wrote: "My mom is the greatest because she scratches my back, comes when I have a bad dream, gives me kisses and tells me how to get rid of blood suckers."

Ronni Rendall, 10, thought her mom, Carol, was the greatest because, "She is nice, loving, lovely, fun to be with and disaplens me when I need it". Ronni's winning entry means her mother will receive a Fogg Feast for two at Mr. Fogg's Restaurant, Carnarvon.

Sherri Walker's mother, Barbara, will receive a $10 gift certificate from Paulette's Gifts in Haliburton, because as Sherri wrote, "She cares about us and helps us when we need it. She cares what we do and thinks about us first before herself." Sherri is 13 years of age.

Pastor welcomed at Minden Gospel Church

The congregation of the Minden Gospel Church officially welcomed a new pastor Thursday. Pastor Everett Wicks was inducted as the church's minister at a special evening service.

Rev. Wicks has been preaching at the local church for a number of months, commuting from his home in Peterborough, where he was also employed in industry.

Officials from the Associated Gospel Churches participated at the induction. Among those taking part were Rev. D.C. Ralph, vice president, from Hamilton, who chaired the meeting, and Rev. Jack Hockney, executive secretary, who assisted with the service and was the speaker. Guests also attended from Peterborough and Norland.

Pastor Wicks had been employed in Peterborough with Canadian General Electric, having worked for that company for 41 years. He took his theological training through the Moody Bible College and has served as pastor in Keswick and Peterborough. He played a major role in the establishment and building of two churches in Peterborough.

The members of the congregation welcomed the new minister and his wife at an informal reception which followed the induction service.

Pastor Everett Wicks is the new minister at the Minden Gospel Church.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

Last Friday evening the residents of Hyland Crest enjoyed the singing voices of the Gooderham United Church Choir. We would like to thank these people for coming to entertain us.

Tuesday morning Rev. David Barker of the Minden Anglican Church held Communion in the Chapel. Mrs. Agnes Taylor was here to play the organ for us.

We had a really good time at fun and fitness on Wednesday morning. Hugh McEachern was the winner of role the ball with an almost perfect score. It was nice to have Carrie Drysdale join us for the session.

Later at crafts, we experimented with a new project called salt sculpturing. It proved to be very interesting. We had a lot of fun creating things from the dough mixture using our imaginations.

Thursday afternoon the Women of the Pentecostal Church in Gooderham brought an abundance of sandwiches, squares and cakes for the tea party. Our thanks to these ladies for a lovely afternoon.

In the evening Kinsmen Club members came to call the numbers for the weekly bingo game. There were quite a few lucky winners of tokens which can be cashed in at the tuck shop.

On Friday morning on his way to fun and fitness, Mr. Harry Robinson grabbed one of our cooks, namely Ruby Graham, and led her to the auditorium and sat her down. Ruby was only able to stay for our opening exercise song, but we were very glad to have her join us.

Friday afternoon, Grace Coburn visited us to lend the Sing Song. Fred Ballard came with her to play the organ. Everyone enjoys singing the old favorites.

We had four very special people celebrating their birthdays this week. Irene Stewart, May 4, Ida Schell, May 10, Marjorie Kanelly, May 11, and Harry Robinson on May 8. Each of these people were presented with a decorated birthday cake by the kitchen staff and residents and staff all joined together to wish them a very happy birthday.

The movies this week were both filmed in South Africa. The first, called "Land of Promise" showed us how the people live in this country. Their country is very rich in gold and diamonds and their medical knowledge is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. South Africa is continuing to grow and expand and has the greatest technology in the world.

"Bantu Toddlers", the second film, was all about the people in the republic of South Africa and how they survive from birth to death. They seem to be very athletic and an extremely happy race of people.

It's been another busy week at Hyland Crest. Keeping active keeps both our minds and bodies fit.

Farm news & views

A forage day is being held in Victoria County on Wednesday, May 28. This event will be held on the farm of Bob Dykstra, on County Road no. 6, between Oakwood and Little Britain.

The forage day program will provide an opportunity for area farmers to learn about the latest techniques in harvesting and handling forage crops. Practical demonstrations of a variety of different makes of equipment will help farmers compare their features.

These demonstrations will start at 12:30 p.m. with forage harvesters. Conventional bale systems will be demonstrated at 1:30 p.m. and mower-conditioners will be featured at 2:30 p.m.

In addition, there will be special demonstrations such as sharpening the knives on forage harvesters.

Forage day is being sponsored by the Victoria County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, with the co-operation of the five main-line machinery dealers in the Lindsay area. These are Arnott Farm Equipment Ltd.; Morgan B. Baker Equipment Ltd.; Callaghan Farm Supply; Hub International Farm Equipment Ltd.; and Bob Mark Ford Tractor Sales Ltd.

All farmers in the area are invited to attend.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

Colin Hewitt, who has been visiting his mother Mrs. Ern Hewitt, left last week for summer employment in the Pembroke Area.

We hear that Bill Yeo left last week to take up employment at Calgary.

Yes, times are bad and won't I fear,
Improve for quite a while.
But every day's a challenge, friend,
To spread around your smile.
For friendship, kindness, humour, too,
Will help us see this battle through.

Weekend guest with the Max Jacksons was their son Tim Jackson of North Bay.

Nell Anderson is home again after visiting with the Wren Hughes family at Harcourt.

There was the Pot Luck Supper for the Mini Card Group at St. Paul's Parish Hall on May 6th. High averages were given for cribbage to Vera Ward and for euchre to Pearl Cowan. Gladys Wruth made these presentations as well as one for perfect attendance to Harry MacMinn; she also thanked all who helped in any way to make these card games successful. A small token was given to Gladys. The crowd cleared the tables and after the dishes were done, they adjourned to the Hall upstairs to play cribbage or euchre to complete the evening.

Elinor Burke is home again after a holiday in Germany.

Librarians and staff met at Haliburton County Library office May 7 for the spring workshop. Plans were made for new rules and a lively discussion was carried on.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Neil Billings, George Addy, Hugh Kernohan and Robert Kernohan whose funerals were held during the past week.

Dennis Moore, of Victoria B.C., who is taking a course at Base Borden, visited his parents over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore, Helen Brydson and Lesley Ann of Bracebridge also visited her parents on Mother's Day.

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox were the Ron Cox family of Peterborough, and local members of their family also called on them.

Bill Hart of Woodstock spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson.

Coming events: May 17, at 2:30 p.m. at the Municipal Hall, Deckhands Puppets (FREE) presenting 'Cinderella' and 'Elephant's Child', come and bring your visitors. May 17, as well, in the evening is Kin Mayfest at the Arena. We note there is special music on the Sunday night; hope it is not as disturbing as last year's Sunday nights.

A MOTHER'S REWARD
I do not ask that you repay
The hours of toil and pain,
The sacrifice of youth and strength
Shall not have been in vain.
I do not ask for gratitude
But only this, my child,
That you shall live your life so well
My gifts be not defiled.

There will be a Memorial Service for the late Gertie Allcorn at Zion United Church in Carnarvon on Saturday, May 17th at 3 p.m.

Condolences to the family and friends of the late Hugh and Rob Kernohan whose funeral services were to-day (Monday). The two brothers were residents of Hyland Crest Home in Minden and passed away on Friday, May 9th.

This week is Police Week and all interested people are invited to visit the local OPP detachment located on the by-pass at Minden. I went a few years ago with our local Brownie group and found it most interesting and informative.

Congratulations to "The Times" for "The Daily Buzz" in last week's paper. I enjoyed

The Victoria Day Holiday is this coming weekend and there are many things to do around the area. There is a free puppet show for the children at the Stanhope Library on Saturday, May 17th at 1 p.m. There are also many auction and garage sales for all to enjoy.

I'm happy to report that Donny Griffin came home from hospital in Peterborough last Thursday and is recuperating at home. Best of luck to you, Donny.

Don't forget - this Thursday night is the 4th Annual Scouts Festival of Fun at the Secondary School in Haliburton. This is a free admission evening of local talent, and we have a good deal of talent in our county. A collection will be taken for the Haliburton County Chapter of the Association for Children With Learning Disabilities (A.C.W.L.D.) See you

The years of love and care
Will amply be repaid if once
I see you standing there -
An upright and an honest soul
On whom success has smiled,
That I may say with humble pride
— "THAT is my child!"

Members of Minden Women's Institute and friends may meet at 1:30 at the Post Office for a ride to the Mervin Bunkers for May meeting on 21st.

Cool yet at times, hear there was some snow last week, but heavy frost anyway; the fish are biting - also the black flies! Cheerio until next time.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Quite a busy weekend according to the traffic going by. Although I do think that maybe they have taken Lutterworth off the map, as haven't heard too much about visitors, or who went visiting.

Guess everyone was busy with Mother's Day. Hope all had a good day.

Pete and Fran Learne and daughter Carol, from Niagara Falls, were up to their cottage.

Had some of our own family up for the weekend so had a very enjoyable time. Did get a lot of ribbing about being a cub reporter and needing to have a special hat with PRESS on it.

Sandy Wilson is up from Pickering for a week visiting her mother Anne Dunsford. Anne is still feeling under the weather but is slowly improving - keep it up Anne. We'd like to see you out and around again.

Don't forget the Puppet Show at Lutterworth Library on Saturday, May 17. It is by the Deckhands and it starts at 4:00 p.m. Bring all the kids. Cookies and freshie will be served, with coffee for the adults.

There is a donated book at the Library I'm sure you would find interesting, it is about Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan. It tells what really happened to them on their flight around the world.

There was a good turn out at the Beef Bar-B-Q and Dance Saturday night. The food was delicious. Marg Miller needs to be thanked for all the preparations that she did to make it go off so smoothly.
